Full job description

Consultant / Engineer / Scientist in Contaminated Land to join the Sydney office of an Environmental Consultancy who firmly believe in giving their consultants as much freedom as possible – allowing them to follow their noses when it comes to client acquisition (no toeing the company line or only servicing existing clients) and not pigeonholing staff to any type of work / project.

The result is a firm whose ranks have swelled quickly – particularly with ex-top-tier profiles who wanted to move away from corporate micromanagement & client infighting. A Principal describes this...

“The culture is what I like most here. Easy going, dedicated company leadership who leave you to do your own thing. Treated like an adult from day 1.”

Projects at this consultancy look like...

- Major Projects like Motorways, Airports, Metro & Tunnels.
- Multidisciplinary consultancy - exposure to EIS and mining work interstate
- Focus on infrastructure on behalf of constructors along with top-tier property portfolio firms handling:
 - Contaminated sites & groundwater hydrogeology
 - Construction / development discharge
 - Tunnelling, seepage, boring water
